

Cuisine: Indian
Category: Soup
Serves: 3
Prep time: 10 Minutes
Cook time: 20 Minutes
Total time: 30 Minutes

INGREDIENTS

To saute

- Butter – 1 tbsp
- Cinnamon – 1 inch piece
- Cloves – 1 no
- Bayleaf – 1 no
- Garlic cloves – 10 nos
- Big onion – 1 no(small size)
- Ripe tomatoes – 4 nos(chop finely)

To mix in the soup

- Salt – as needed
- Sugar – 1/4 tsp
- Tomato sauce / tomato ketchup -1 tbsp
- Corn flour – 1 tbsp
- Water- 3 cups
- Pepper powder – to serve

HOW TO MAKE TOMATO SOUP – METHOD

- In a pressure cooker base,melt butter. Add the cinnamon, clove and bay leaf. Saute for few seconds. Add onions, chopped garlic cloves and saute well. Finally add the chopped tomato pieces and saute till mushy.

- To this, add 3 cups of water, salt and pressure cook in high flame for 3-4 whistles. After the steam is released, remove the bayleaf, cinnamon and grind it with a hand blender or a juicer.

- Strain the sediments and discard. Add the bay leaf and cinnamon back to the strained soup.
- Now add sugar, tomato sauce, 1/4 tsp of white pepper powder and allow it to boil for a minute. Dilute corn flour in little water and add to the soup. Allow it to boil till raw smell emanates completely.

- Serve hot with bread croutons.

NOTE

- Generally a piece of carrot or beetroot would be added to the tomatoes while cooking to give a nice color. But I didn't use any as my tomatoes itself were ripe with a nice color.
- If you add carrot or beetroot, do not grind it along with tomatoes. Please discard them after you pressure cook.
- For making bread croutons, cut the bread into slices, apply little oil. Bake in a convection oven at 180c for 20 mins. Flip it once in the middle. U'll get a super crispy bread croutons which you can serve with this yummy soup. It tastes great !